

July 1, 2011

Dear Valued Customer:

Worthington Cylinders is pleased to announce it has acquired the assets of Newell Rubbermaid's hand torch and solder business, sold under the BernzOmatic® and Lenox® brands and will begin supplying product direct to key accounts on July 1. Your business is very important to us and we would like to establish or continue our commercial relationship with you beginning in July.

Worthington Cylinders is excited to offer you an enhanced selection of quality products from a consistent, reliable supplier. You can also be sure that you will receive the best service in the industry, with personal, professional account management. To ensure a smooth transition in your product supply, please see the enclosed information for details on submitting orders and payments. This information is also available at www.WorthingtonCylinders.com/Bernz.

Worthington Cylinders is the world's leading global manufacturer of pressure cylinders and related products including the BernzOmatic®, Worthington Pro Grade® and Balloon Time® retail brands. Our six distinct business units offer a complete line of pressure vessels, including propane, industrial, refrigerant, alternative fuels, specialty and retail products. Headquartered in Columbus, Ohio, we operate 13 facilities in the United States, Austria, Canada, Portugal, the Czech Republic and India, supplying to more than 70 countries worldwide.

Worthington Cylinders is a subsidiary of Worthington Industries (NYSE:WOR), a leading diversified metals manufacturing company with 2011 fiscal year sales of $2.4 billion. The Columbus, Ohio based company is North America's premier value-added steel processor and a leader in manufactured pressure cylinders, such as propane, oxygen and helium tanks, hand torches, refrigerant and industrial cylinders, camping cylinders, scuba tanks, and compressed natural gas storage cylinders; framing systems and stairs for mid-rise buildings; steel pallets and racks; and through joint ventures, suspension grid systems for concealed and lay-in panel ceilings, current and past model automotive service stampings; laser welded blanks, and light gauge steel framing for commercial and residential construction. Worthington employs approximately 8,000 people and operates 74 facilities in 11 countries. For more details on our company and products, please visit www.WorthingtonCylinders.com.

On behalf of Worthington Cylinders, we look forward to a mutually beneficial relationship for the supply of your products starting in July. We ask for your continued support during this critical transition of supply and deeply appreciate your cooperation over the coming weeks. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely,

Dusty McClintock
Vice President Sales & Marketing
